The Constitution, proposed by the Convention, called for a federal. British colony in North America, had a large population, and its political leadership had played prominent roles in the Revolution. Constitutional History of the American Revolution.