Corporate governance largely came to the centre of the international development agenda following the East Asian financial crisis. The crisis...